Sorry, I wrote you a text a few hours ago and it didn't send. I must have been out of range at the time. I just went back to look and it went out to you.

The sign-on investor statement from NY State & Trillium (which I sent you an embargoed version of earlier) has NOT been made public.

There was apparently a last-minute hang-up. I don't understand exactly what yet, and when it may be made public (tmrw am?)

Those are indeed the signatories, according to Shelley Alpern. Unfortunately, of course, the list has also not been made public.

If it is not made public tomorrow by NY State, it may be made public by Trillium.

There is unfortunate caution and concern about publicity, etc., from some of these folks and I am trying hard to figure out exactly what's going on.

I promise to be in touch with everything I know asap.

Did the New York State comptroller statement go out? Is this what you mean by investor statement? Did all of these people sign it?

I don't know about support for resolution yet. I think it's going to be relatively impressive this year compared to previous years.

Here's support for investor statement.

I'll let you know asap on resolution support...

I took this from an old press release. Is this correct?

Other public pension funds that have announced their support of the resolution include those of Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and the pension funds of firefighters and police in Detroit and other large cities. Funds from three large unions – the AFL-CIO, Teamsters, and AFSCME – have announced their support of the resolution along with several smaller private funds, such as Trillium Asset Management in Boston.
